

2005 History-Social Science Primary Adoption CRP Applicants

blue-cib-cfir-mar05item04

Attachment 1

Page 1 of 1

Number	Title	Employer	Highest Degree	Expertise	Region	Gender
116	Associate Professor	California State University at San Bernadino	Ph.D. Political Science, Northern Arizona University	American Indian Studies, Political Science	South	F

Summary

The candidate is an Associate Professor of Public Administration at California State University at San Bernardino. She has taught numerous courses in American Indian Studies and is the author of a forthcoming book on American Indian political power. She served as a Special Advisor to Lieutenant Governor Bustamante for the 2002 electoral campaign. She has a Ph.D. degree in Political Science from Northern Arizona University.

Number	Title	Employer	Highest Degree	Expertise	Region	Gender
117	Professor	University of California at Davis	Ph.D. Early Christian Literature, University of Chicago	Comparative Religion	Central	F

Summary

The candidate is a Professor and Director of Religious Studies at the University of California at Davis. She was the Director of the UC Education Abroad Program, Israel, from 1997-2001, and has served as Department Chair. She is the author of several books on ancient religions and numerous journal articles. She has a Ph.D. degree in Early Christian Literature from the University of Chicago.